GUARANA TABLETS

► 60 tablets: 470 CZK ◀

Guarana – a legendary sacred plant of South American Indians

The word guarana is an expression of South American Indians of Maués tribe and it means a bush that grows with the support of other plants. Today it is used for mark of fruits of Paullinia Cupana plant of genus Sapindaceae. Among Maués Indians and other Brazilian Indian tribes guarana is a legendary plant that considers as an elixir and they believe that this plant is sacred and sent from the gods as food and medicine. They prepare energy drink of its fruits and they also used this stimulant to appease hunger, to treatment for fever and for soothing of aches.

Guarana contains stimulating substance similar to caffeine called guaranin. Guarana seeds also contain high amount of fat, oil and resin that together prevent the substance from resolving in water properly. That is probably cause of the thing that stimulating substances are absorbed very slowly in the digestive tract and the effect of one dose is often evident for whole six hours. It is really likely that both nutritious value of these fat compounds and relatively slow course of stimulating alkaloid absorption celebrated the guarana plant as a healthy pick-me-up and nutritious substitution for food during the time of forced or voluntary slimming.

Nowadays medical ways of guarana using that were researched, clinically tested and many scientific works inform about them make an imposing list. There aren't any doubts then that guarana is really a plant with wide spectrum of application at wide variety of problems. These are the most significant beneficial effects that are possible to achieve at use of guarana:

- 1. acts as universal tonic especially at feeling of exhaustion
- 2. at treatment of diarrhoea and dysentery
- 3. it is indicated at nerve depression and recovery after long-time diseases
- 4. acts in soothing way at algomenorrhea
- 5. acts positively at nerve and muscular system and prevents from fatigue
- 6. stimulates brain functions and supports cerebation
- 7. its universal effect appears like alleviative, releasing ache and generally soothing
- 8. enables easier endurance of high temperatures
- 9. has aphrodisiac property

Therewithal thanks to effects of guarana the stronger and more effective blood circulation means a considerable advantage at all types of sports because release of lactic acid of muscles proceeds more intensively and due to this fatigue is declined. The other of big advantages of this substance is the property that after using doesn't come short stimulation that would be followed by feeling that it is necessary to use another dose. That is guarana effects in the whole organism and not only in some of the systems. It is ideal then at performing of any systematic activity that needs centralize and concentration or ability to react immediately (some sports – tennis, motoring, automobile long-distance traffic, etc.). The last and indispensable property of guarana is its absolute safety, usage of higher dose doesn't make a trouble, although (or just therefore) the effect of higher dose is identical with a recommended dose. Guarana is really a herbal preparation of modern times, guarana really "functions", restrainedly, guarana is modern pick-me-up.
